ORGANIZATION IS WHAT IS NEEDED

COMMITTEE ASKS MILITIA CONFERENCE FOR CANTERA—RECOMMEND LONG DRILL

(Western Associated Press.) Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The militia conference in the railway committee room of the commons today proved very interesting. The first of yesterday, General Gougeon, C.B.E., chief of the staff, gave an address in which he urged the need for practical organization. He pointed out that it was essential that the organization should be the same in time of peace as in time of war and reminded his hearers that Germany had defeated France in 1870 by its superior organization, just as Japan had conquered Russia through its better organization.

At the last Imperial conference, the empire's dominions had agreed on uniformity in organization and he was gratified to be able to say that Canada had done more in that regard than any other of the dominions. There was the visit of Sir John French had resulted in the reorganization which was the same in time of peace as in time of war and reminded his hearers that Germany had defeated France in 1870 by its superior organization, just as Japan had conquered Russia through its better organization.

They claimed that Saskatoon had not been given a fair deal and it is understood asked that either a fresh census be taken, or that the figures of population taken by the local board of trade be accepted. Consideration was promised.

NEW CHURCH ON ATHABASCA AVE.

METHODISTS PLAN TO SPEND $20,000 ON HANDSOME EDIFICE TO BE ERECTED NEXT YEAR

That the church life of Edmonton is keeping pace with all other features of the city's growth is evidenced by the number and proportions of the sacred edifices being erected. Now comes the Wesleyan Methodist church with the purpose of building an edifice at Seventh street and Athabasca avenue. Plans and specifications for a portion of the new home are now in course of preparation. Work is to commence in the near future. It is the intention of the church to build this next year at an expenditure of about $20,000, and later attempt an even larger structure. The building erected next year will be used for general church purposes. Later an addition will be made to it for general church purposes and the portion now planned will be used for school purposes. By the time the whole church is completed it will be of large dimensions and capable of housing this congregation for some time to come.

Tomorrow the Wesleyan Methodist church will observe its anniversary Sunday. This particular day is set apart in commemoration of the organization of this particular congregation in this city. At the anniversary service tomorrow Rev. H. H. Leitch, of the Wesleyan church at St. John's, will preach. At evening Prof. C. E. Rhoad of Alberta College will be in the pulpit. This is the third anniversary service.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL THE GUEST OF HONOR

OFFICERS OF MILITIA CONFERENCE TENDERED BANQUET BY MINISTER OF MILITIA

(Western Associated Press.) Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The Hon. H. H. Hughes, the Duke of Connaught, attended a luncheon tendered the officers attending militia conference by Hon. G. Hughes, in the parliamentary reception yesterday afternoon and delivered his first after dinner speech since his arrival in Canada as Governor General. The luncheon was attended by Premier Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and many members of the cabinet government.

Upon rising to respond to the toast of his health, His Royal Highness, the Governor General, was greeted with hearty cheers. His Highness thanked his host for having afforded him the opportunity of being present and expressed to the officers his appreciation of the warmth of the reception he saw before him, he said the fact of many of whom he had met at home on different occasions and rejoiced to meet them again.

His Royal Highness said it augured well for the country, since his arrival in Canada as Governor General, should come enormous distance to deliberate upon important questions of feeling the militia. He said he had heard that the best results would flow from the event.

A great opportunity was given to him to put into practice the suggestions formulated at the conference and he felt that those who had taken part in it would utilize what they had learned for the benefit of the force. If they could impress their countrymen with the importance of the militia, they would be doing their duty not only to Canada, but to the Empire at large.

PREMIERS MAY HOLD CONFERENCE SOON

EASTERNERS WILL PUT IN CLAIM FOR REPRESENTATION WITH-OUT POPULATION

(Western Associated Press.) Ottawa, Nov. 18.—If present negotiations materialize, a conference of provincial premiers will be held in Ottawa about the beginning of the year. The prime object of the conference will be a discussion of, and if possible, the arriving at some basis of agreement with regard to the question of provincial representation in the federal house.

Hon. J. K. Fleming, premier of New Brunswick, who is now in the capital in conference with the government regarding the construction of the Valley railway, said today that with the exception of two, all of the provincial executives had signified their willingness to get together for the thrashing out of a question as well as several other important matters.

Mr. Fleming is uncompromising in his conviction that the representation of the maritime provinces should not and must not be cut down.

The annual football game between the eleven of the West Point and Annapolis academies will be played in Philadelphia Saturday and will be an occasion for the usual large and brilliant gathering of army and navy officers, public officials and society folk.

Curfew reform will be the all-absorbing topic of discussion at the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, which will assemble in New Orleans Tuesday and continue in session through the greater part of the week.

Other convalescents of the week will include the National Trust conference at Richmond, Va., and the annual meeting of the Mississippi-Alabama Inland Waterway association in Montgomery, Ala.

A number of notable men and women are to observe their birthday anniversaries during the week. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's seventieth birthday, on Monday, will be fittingly marked by the Liberal news paper. The Hon. J. H. Green, the "world's richest woman," will attain her seventieth birthday on Tuesday and four days later Andrew Carnegie, who has just given further evidence of his desire to do good by donating an additional $25,000,000 for educational purposes, will enter upon his seventy-fifth year.

She seemed amazed at the attention she was attracting.

The ore seized is valued at fourteen hundred dollars.

A similar accident occurred at Donnacona a few days ago, when a 13-month old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ann McMillan was burned to death while his parents were absent.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE PRESENT WEEK

CHICAGO PACKERS ON TRIAL MONDAY—STEELE TRUST INVESTIGATION—LAURIER'S BIRTHDAY.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—J. Ogden Armour and a dozen other of the great Chicago packers are to be arraigned in the United States district court in Chicago Monday for trial on indictments alleging violations of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act in the alleged maintenance of an "unreasonable" conspiracy to restrain the meat industry of the country. The Federal government has spent eight years in its investigation of the alleged "trust" and an endeavor to bring the principals to the bar.

The scheduled Steel Trust investigating committee of the House of Representatives is to resume its hearing at Washington Monday. It is expected the first inquiry will be directed toward rates charged for the transportation of ore by the Great Northern and Minnesota. J. Pierpont Morgan and Andrew Carnegie are scheduled to appear before the committee and their testimony is awaited with keen anticipation.

Interest in the work of the International Commerce Commission is expected to center in the proposed investigation into the business of the express companies. The first hearing will be held in New York Wednesday. The express companies have shown some disposition to oppose the investigation and it is not expected that any information will be gained in the matter except the result of a strenuous fight.

The "Underwood" for President probably will be heard from during the week. Harding is making a big haul of the minority leader in the House. He has been arranged by the Democrats of Alabama and will be attacked by prominent party leaders from all over the south.

The annual football game between the eleven of the West Point and Annapolis academies will be played in Philadelphia Saturday and will be an occasion for the usual large and brilliant gathering of army and navy officers, public officials and society folk.

Curfew reform will be the all-absorbing topic of discussion at the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, which will assemble in New Orleans Tuesday and continue in session through the greater part of the week.

MORGAN'S CHURCH CELEBRATES TODAY

New York, Nov. 18.—Beginning tomorrow, St. George's Episcopal church, in East Sixteenth street, overlooking Stuyvesant Park, whose most distinguished communicant is J. Pierpont Morgan, will celebrate its one hundred anniversary as a parish.

The celebration will cover three days and will embrace services of a religious, historical and educational character. St. George's was formerly the chapel of the Trinity church, built by the mother church in Beekman street in 1752, to accommodate those who didn't want to go so far downtown as Trinity. At a time when Beekman street was considered far uptown, in 1811 it was destroyed by Trinity, and made a separate parish.

While Legions Are at War City of Rome Is Frivolous

Troubles at Tripoli Do Not Trouble the Mind, for the Italian Capital Refuses to Be Bothered by the Carnage Across the Sea

(By A. G. Pearce)

Rome, Nov. 18.—Only those who know the ardor, the effervescence, the immensity of the Italian character, can adequately realize how, in the face of the anxieties and the apprehensions of war, Rome is at this moment leading a gay and almost frivolous existence. Into the psychology of the hour in the Italian capital, there does not seem to enter any desire at all to turn to the contemplation of possible danger or reverse. Rome, so far as a strain or any gauge its temperament for the outward demeanor of its citizens, is not putting forth the least endeavor to hush the war in Tripoli from its mind. It simply refuses to be worried by the matter. It takes the present campaign in North Africa with the lightest possible heart.

One would almost imagine that it regards the war as a thing about which there is no necessity to trouble. Obviously, to the Roman citizen's way of thinking, all is bound to turn out well. The Italian arms will emerge victorious from the conflict; the nation will have added another colony to its territorial possessions; and the fifth anniversary of Italy's birth as a modern nation will have been celebrated in a manner far surpassing the roisterous dreams of the country's most sanguine sons.

It must surely be difficult to sit at ease parallel to the present situation in Rome, as it is apt to strike the stranger. Modern Romans have been here and serious conflicts, and have been so regarded by the people. The Italian arms will emerge victorious from the conflict; the nation will have added another colony to its territorial possessions; and the fifth anniversary of Italy's birth as a modern nation will have been celebrated in a manner far surpassing the roisterous dreams of the country's most sanguine sons.

life. One of the things that strike one most is that they seem to have no impossible collection of fables of legends in fact, the whole pronouncement, so far as the female part of it goes, is a complete triumph for the coquette and the modiste.

Talk of the hobbie skirt! We have it here in Rome in all its equality of length and width. And the latest their circumference is measured in feet, not inches; but they serve this excellent purpose, that they render a sumptuous superfluity. Thus, from afternoon to afternoon, and from evening to evening, the Corso knows the ebbs and flows of fashionable Rome. These dark-skinned people, full of animated talk and expressive gesture, talk of everything but the war; while the present odor of the Italian electorate and the fragrance of the latest triumph in Tripoli perfume the air for mastery.

That one there seems to issue from every side street, and to deluge into every piazza, a perfect horde of newspaper sellers. The brims with them the latest news from Tripoli, and they shout it forth in tones that threaten to split one's ear-drums. They bear the air of "special editions." These, tell of course, of another victory for the Italian arms on the farthest shore of the Mediterranean. It may be only a slight affair of outpost, but it is heralded as a victory, nevertheless, and is cause of graphic description. These little victories are dear—so dear—to the Italian ear; and who shall to cherish them to grudge those people the pleasure and patriotic pride they derive from them? Besides, the center has all along been so chary of the news that he has permitted to pass his reality and arbitrary hand that the news is so much the more precious for the smallest of increases in the form of intelligence from the front. So the demonstrators and the gossip-mongers change in an instant. The war, which they have all been ignoring, is suddenly brought to mind, and there is a dash for the newspapers, and an eager scanning of the news with the censor has graciously permitted to go through to the newspaper offices.

It is all well, naturally. There is room for nothing but jubilation. Thanks to the bravery and alertness of the Italian soldiers, the Turk has been beaten off, and has once more taken to his heels. It is a great sign that the Italian invader as the savior of his native land, wherefore, "Viva Italia!" "Viva Tripoli!" "Viva!" It is all most encouraging.

After all, then, the war is still going on. The cities of Rome must therefore inform themselves a little more fully as to this trans-Mediterranean Prand's Land, towards the acquisition of which the navy and army are making such rapid strides. Accordingly, the more thoughtful spirits in the throng betake themselves to the shops of the proprietors in the Corso and elsewhere, and they proceed to satisfy themselves as to the existence and the precise whereabouts of the regions about which they have been reading in the printers, on their part, are busy.

ness men, just as are Roman shopkeepers generally, and they have literally provided against the sudden strike for geographical knowledge.

To and outside one of these print-sellers' windows for a few minutes while the maps of Tripoli are being marked out for their own, and of this new possession which they have marked out for their own, and of the place it occupies on the earth's surface relatively to their own beloved land. The study of Tripoli and anecdotal reports of victory for the Italian arms so well at the moment; but the question one almost hesitates to put to one's self is: How will these war-battered people take any sort of reverse, even of a temporary character, to their arms in Tripoli? It is not in the nature of the Italian to take defeat easily or gracefully; hence such a result could result not generally look for.

New York, Nov. 18.—Among the passengers sailing for Europe today on the steamship Lapland were several members of the United States delegation to the international opium congress, which is to be held at The Hague next month. The party included Dr. Hamilton Wright of Chicago, and Henry J. Rogers of California, who have been appointed delegates, together with the secretary, Frederic L. Hildebrand, and the assistant secretary, Wallace J. Young. Bishop Brent, the chairman of the delegation is now en route to the Hague from the Philippines. The purpose of the conference, which will be attended by representatives of the leading nations, is to give effect to the resolutions of the international opium conference, which met in Shanghai two years ago, and to endeavor to secure agreement among nations on uniform laws and regulations to control the production, manufacture and distribution of opium, its derivatives and preparation.

REPORT HEAVY STRIKE

(Western Associated Press.) Toronto, Nov. 18.—A general strike of the railway and streetcar employees of the city of Toronto, which was scheduled to take place on Monday, was postponed to the next day, the coast regular of the C. P. R. transcontinental, arrived at the union station with a train and very few passengers, over a dozen coaches making up the train. Tales of the heavy snow in the west were told on all sides.

"WING CORPSE" HAS GOOD RUN

TOLSTOY'S DRAMA IS ATTENDED WITH GREAT SUCCESS AT MOSCOW

(Globe Cable Service)

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—Great success attended the production in Moscow of Leo Tolstoy's posthumous drama, "The Living Corpse." The plot, which is laid in a Russian provincial town, tells how Piotr Prokofiev, the son of wealthy St. Petersburg parents, has married Liza, a simple country girl, who has borne him a child. The marriage is not a happy one in consequence of Piotr's constant yearning for the gay society of the capital, and Liza's mother continually urges her to obtain a divorce. This, however, his happy wife cannot bring herself to do. In the same house with the little family lives Victor Karanin, who has loved Liza since her childhood, and is vainly or crazily jealous of Piotr. He is delayed at a time of year when a break in the weather is liable to come at any moment and they may have to fight through frost and ice, snow and general bad weather to get out of the river before it freezes up.

Neither warning nor reason, it is claimed, by the shipping men, was given for the action of the longshoremen and before the former hardly knew what was happening, the latter had been called out from every side in port.

The strike began with the C. P. R. men working on the Mount Temple and the Lake Manitoba, the latter in the last stages of loading her cargo prior to sailing tomorrow morning. At two o'clock, the word was passed through the C. P. R. shops to the men working in the hold of the ships that officials of the longshoremen's union had called a strike. The response was instantaneous. There was, however, no sign of disturbance or demonstration.

At length Florio discloses the story of his deception to a friend, who suggests that the yeshoud blackmail Liza in a sudden frenzy of anger. Florio knocks the man down, and they are both arrested. The whole affair then comes to light, and Karanin and Liza are arrested for conspiring to leave Florio free to marry again. A sensational court scene ensues in the actual suicide of Florio, who, on learning that the fate of them will be sent to Siberia, promptly shoots himself and leaves the others to their fate.

LONGSHOREMEN ARE OUT ON STRIKE

NUMBER OF SHIPS ARE NOW STANDING DESERTED AT MONTREAL DOCKS

(Western Associated Press.)

Montreal, Nov. 18.—The longshoremen to the number of nearly a thousand, who were on duty at the docks, today stopped work on the seventeen vessels now in port this afternoon and left the stevedores to shift for themselves as they might in unloading and getting their cargo aboard in an effort to make a quick getaway before the official close of navigation, a week hence, when the insurance policies lapse.

As a result of the strike, of which there is at present no indication of a settlement, every ocean steaming company that owns vessels plying to Montreal is face to face with the serious situation of having its vessels delayed at a time of year when a break in the weather is liable to come at any moment and they may have to fight through frost and ice, snow and general bad weather to get out of the river before it freezes up.

Neither warning nor reason, it is claimed, by the shipping men, was given for the action of the longshoremen and before the former hardly knew what was happening, the latter had been called out from every side in port.

The strike began with the C. P. R. men working on the Mount Temple and the Lake Manitoba, the latter in the last stages of loading her cargo prior to sailing tomorrow morning. At two o'clock, the word was passed through the C. P. R. shops to the men working in the hold of the ships that officials of the longshoremen's union had called a strike. The response was instantaneous. There was, however, no sign of disturbance or demonstration.

CENTENARY OF NOTED YANKEE NAVAL OFFICER

Washington Remembers the Exploit of Admiral Winslow, Who Was C. S. S. Alabama

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—In this the sesqui-centennial year of the beginning of the civil war, when the stirring events of the historic conflict are being recalled by the anniversary ceremonies and historical reviews, it is interesting to note that tomorrow will be the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Rear Admiral John A. Winslow, who commanded the kearsarge in her famous fight with the Alabama off the port of Cherbourg, France, June 19, 1864. Admiral Winslow was born in North Carolina but passed his boyhood in Massachusetts and was appointed to the navy from the state in 1827. He took part in the naval operations in the war with Mexico and at the beginning of the civil war, he joined the U. S. S. Monitor in the battle of Fort Fisher. In 1862 he was made captain and assigned to the command of the kearsarge. For nearly two years he searched the seas for the Confederate steamers. Alabama, commanded by the redoubtable Captain Semmes, who had become a terror to every merchant vessel flying the American flag. For sinking the Alabama, Admiral Winslow received a vote of thanks from Congress.

News From the Theatres

"MADAME SHERRY" COMING.

Not very much of the story of "Madame Sherry" is revealed in the advance announcements. Mainly the thread of musical and other incidents of this musical success concern a young New York unmarried man about town, saving his wild oats on money sent him by an uncle, who believes his nephew married and the father of two children. The uncle unexpectedly pays a visit to the studio of the nephew, who is supposed to be a dandy, and is forced to gather unto himself a family. He prescribes his very unparliamentary housekeeper into service to pass as his wife, and gets his own sweetheart to pass as one of his children and an adult guest in his home to answer a his son. It is from the comic embarrassments growing out of this first situation that the fun of the piece begins. Of course attendant misadventures consequent upon the first deception follow one another throughout the play. The main love interest is introduced at the very outset, with the arrival of the uncle, who brings with him a relative in Vienna Sherry, Miss Ethel Bell, a young maid just out of a convent. It develops that the sweetheart of the young man about town turns back and falls in love with the guest passing as her brother, a pupil that opens the way for the mischievously scheming nephew and the virtuous convent girl to become sweethearts, which they do in the oddest way. Incidentally, it is the love of the convent and the nephew that, introduced in the play as a love theme, is the air of the production, "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own."

"Madame Sherry" will be played here by the New York, New Amsterdam Theatre Company on Nov. 20, Dec. 1, and 2, for three performances at the Empire Theatre.

"BABY MINE"

Bibbling, effervescent, contagious, comical human farce. That is what "Baby Mine," is and because its fun is human is why it is the marvellous success it is. These words of praise were written by Allen Dail, the foremost critic of this continent and his words are true. "Baby Mine," is without doubt the greatest achievement in farce writing in the English language. "Marsden Mayo"—four years ago an unknown author—is today one of the best known contributors to stage literature in the world. "Baby Mine," did it. Edmonton will have an opportunity to see this farce on Monday, Nov. 27, when George H. Summers will present it at the Empire Theatre.

KUBELIK'S CAREER.

Hundreds of thousands, yes, millions know the music of that name. These people, from every civilized country of the globe, also appreciate the music of this marvellous young man's fingers; his temperamental gifts and musical qualifications. There have been a few masters of this most efficient of instruments with in the reception of the most concert-goer, and among these few Kubelik was quite a part—a genius whose qualities are readily admitted because they cannot be denied. It is two years since Kubelik visited the United States and Canada. This season he will again charm with his violin and low, his marvellous personality and in the innumerable other ways that have now come to be known as peculiarly belonging to Kubelik.

Although this master musician is near the zenith of his career there are few who have labored so hard as he to perfect his marvellous equipment. Many say he is too young to practice for hours every day that each detail might be made impeccable; but this young man is differently constituted. He felt he owed it to himself and to his future public to do all with his environment that he could, and he still maintains that same attitude toward work.

Kubelik was born in the Bohemian village of Mielitz, scarcely 21 years ago. The violinist's father was a humble craftsman, but a good earner and a good musician. When the younger Kubelik was but six years old the father was surprised one day to see the lad with a full sized violin tucked under his tiny chin, passing the bow back and forth across the strings with surprising results. There was only one natural outcome to this—the six-year-old child must have lessons. And the elder Kubelik proceeded straightway to act the role of instructor.

When he was eight, people began to notice the village of Mielitz, called Kubelik the "wunderkind." During the next four years the wise father kept his son at the Mielitz school and personally saw that his mental and musical development was normally continued. Despite the entreaties of friends and acquaintances that the lad's progress should be hurried that golden school might flow into the caress of the Kubelik family the father resolutely shook his head.

At the age of twelve, Kubelik was sent to Prague, where for the next seven years he was taught by the celebrated Serebrennikov. There he developed his marvellous technique. There his long, slender fingers learned to perform amazing feat of mechanical skill that had not been known to experts since the day of Paganini. And at nineteen Kubelik stepped forth in all the fullness of his natural and acquired powers, a great artist ready to conquer the musical world.

KUBELIK'S CAREER.

No other virtuoso in modern music has risen to so exalted a plane in so short a time as Jan Kubelik. A little more than a decade ago his name had never been heard outside the Bohemian village of Mielitz in which he was born.

There he passed his boyhood in the humble home of his father, a spy-glass maker. In this obscurity, without any advantages not enjoyed by his fellow companions, the divine talent which since has enthralled the world, quietly flowered. Before he had reached his twentieth year the continent of Europe was vibrating with his name. He had not attained his majority when America had added its praise to the constantly swelling chorus. Early declared a "child marvel," he speedily commanded the respectful consideration given none but consummate artists. His career thus has entirely overthrown the tradition that prodigies never, in their mature years, fulfill the promise of their childhood.

Kubelik may be said to have lived with the violin since his birth. Since his eighth year he has certainly lived for it. He was blessed in having a father who, though poor in the world's goods, was rich in appreciation of his son's talent and did all in his power to further it. This wise parent himself played the violin and never was so fatigued after a long day of manual labor to give lessons upon the instrument to his little boy. Jan soon surpassed his father and when eight years old, Mielitz called him the "wunderkind." Enthusiasts told the elder Kubelik a fortune was awaiting the lad in the cities and urged him to travel with him. Again the father revealed his wisdom. He knew what budding talent, to reach ripe fruition must be properly trained. He turned resolutely from this golden promise and kept Jan at the Mielitz school until he was twelve years old, by which time he had saved enough to send him to the Prague Conservatory.

At Prague Kubelik remained six years under the famous master, Serebrennikov, during which time he perfected that marvellous technique which has been the despair of his contemporaries and the astonishment of his auditors. At eighteen, the dark slender boy with the massive forehead, shaggy black hair and long, prehensile fingers, performed wonders on the violin, which has been as a lost chord since the passing of Paganini. Serebrennikov was celebrated as a teacher of technique but no student so gifted as Kubelik before had passed under his charge. The master knew after one hearing of the shy, awkward boy of 12 years, that there was one of those geniuses seen but once in a century, and during the next six years he gave him most enthusiastic and sympathetic personal attention.

Under this guidance Kubelik perfected the surface characteristics of his art; his soul, his temperament, his feeling supplying the searching, deeper qualities which mark the great interpreter from the merely skilful technician. These latter attributes, God given, and which no amount of training can supply, are what separate Kubelik from all contemporary violinists. Without them technique is but empty sounding show; with them technique becomes the medium for expressing the grandeur of nature, the beauty of life and the nobility of the human soul. Coupled in him as these gifts are, it is little wonder that Kubelik moves vast audiences to frenzies of enthusiasm.

After leaving Prague Kubelik almost in a night leaped from obscurity into world-wide fame. His first professional engagement was at Budapest where he was praised as extravagantly as he had been at Prague, Vienna, a much more critical city, next fell under the spell of his magic bow, and Munich, Dresden, Berlin, Brussels and Paris succumbed in turn. Royalty, ever the patron of musical genius, was no slower to recognize Kubelik's measure than was the populace. Emperor Franz Josef of Austria presented him young subject with a Stradivarius violin, one of the last remaining examples of that incomparable make. Kaiser Wilhelm rewarded him hardly less substantially, and, when London had confirmed the verdict of the continent, King Edward was not slow in following the examples of the other rulers.

One of America's foremost judges of classic music, heard Kubelik play in London and induced him to consent to a tour of this country. The young Bohemian crossed the Atlantic in the autumn of 1906 and at his debut at Carnegie hall, New York, he evoked the greatest enthusiasm ever awakened by an instrumentalist in the metropolis. Music lovers and press alike in pre-claiming that the report cabled from Europe had not exaggerated in the statement of his powers. The report given him in New York was repeated in every other city visited, time he had saved enough to send him the satisfaction of knowing that he had conquered the most extensive and critical music-loving public in the world. As America is not slow to reward those who deserve it, it gave Kubelik in due time the prodigious wealth of heavenly harmony he scattered through the land, a fortune in money to take back to the village where he had lived in poverty.

In 1906 the total number of railroad employees in the United States was 874,558. Last year the total was 1,455,622.

EPIDEMIC OF LA
GRIPPE IN LONDON

DEATHS FROM INFLUENZA ARE NOT, HOWEVER, UNUSUALLY LARGE THIS YEAR

London, Nov. 18.—The indications show that this year's epidemic of influenza is unusually severe. Although the deaths to date are not above the average for the season, the suddenness with which the victims are assailed and the noticeable tendency of the disease to undermine the heart's action are now encouraging signs.

"When heart depression is the outstanding symptom of attack, as is the case this year," a west end physician said yesterday, "the public should remember that influenza, even in the milder form, is a very dangerous disease. The only safe rule is to go to bed at once and give yourself up wholly to fighting the disease all the while. When the heart is struggling against a violent poison, like the influenza toxin, it must be relieved from all unnecessary fatigue. Therefore stay in bed at any rate until every trace of fever has passed off. To relieve the sometimes terrifying irregularity of the heart-beat, the drops of oil of vitellus in a little hot milk often act like a charm. But if the patient is able to do any business or other work, keeps quiet in bed, and rests the digestive organs, as well as the heart, by turning to a light milk diet for forty-eight hours after the onset of the attack few medicines are needed."

Port William, Nov. 18.—A strong and heavy fall of snow prevailed in the Lake Superior district since morning. Number of skaters are in shelter and no boats will venture out into the storm. No accidents have been reported.

THIRTY YEARS IN

After Most Remarkable Record of Detention Lawyer Is Granted His Freedom

Brussels, Nov. 18.—Léon Peltzer, who in 1882 was sentenced to imprisonment for life for the murder of M. Harms, an Antwerp lawyer, has been pardoned by the Minister of Justice after a record detention in Louvain prison. Peltzer's brother, who was also convicted of having been concerned in the murder, died in prison a quarter of a century ago. Peltzer, who has been ordered to depart from Belgium immediately, left for Cologne, where he met his mother, who is 92 years old.

On January 25, 1882, Mr. Bernas was found shot in a house in the Rue de la Loi, Brussels, the attention of the police being directed to him by the receipt of a letter signed "Vaughan," in which the writer said the lawyer had entered on him, and in a discussion on the collection of firearms he had produced a pistol for M. Bernas's inspection, and had accidentally killed him. Peltzer and his brother, both in good positions, were subsequently arrested, the former at Cologne. One of the Peltzers is dead at any rate until every trace of fever has passed off.

At a meeting last evening of the general committee of medical societies in charge the task of preparing for the session of the Dominion Medical association in this city next summer, an organization was presented to look after the minutest details. Sub-committees, sixteen in number, have been appointed and the duties of each committee defined.

Kingson, Nov. 18.—Frontenac liberal today nominated Rev. J. P. McInnes, Presbyterian minister at Harrowsville, to oppose A. M. Munroe, who is a conservative nominee. Mr. McInnes said he would resign his charge and enter the fight.

WOMAN'S PART IN BELGIAN INDUSTRY

HALF A MILLION WOMEN ARE EN-GAGED IN AGRICULTURAL PURSUITS

(Cable Cable Service)
Brussels, Nov. 18.—The number of women engaged in agricultural work in Belgium is 514,000, whereas the number engaged in commerce and industry are respectively 28,400 and 22,200. Dairying and poultry-rearing are practically in the hands of women altogether. According to M. P. de Weyt, Inspector-general of Agriculture, the annual milk yield of the country amounts to $70,000,000, a sum about equal to the total annual railway receipts or the average output of the coal mines, while the yearly revenue from poultry would more than meet the war office estimates.

Schools for Housewives.
Efficient instruction in all that pertains to the home and those branches of agriculture which come within the sphere of women's activity is provided by the excellent housewife schools. These schools, which are greatly needed, are of two types, permanent, and temporary or itinerant. "There is an old Alsatian proverb which says that 'the farmer's wife can take care of the farm in her apron' than the plowman can put him with a four-horse team." It is in recognition of this truth that the housewife schools are maintained that every girl shall have the opportunity of becoming a really capable helpmate to her husband of father on the land. The result may be seen in the comfort and prosperity of the vast majority of the housewives of the soil. Squallid and miserable homes undoubtedly exist, as they everywhere, but the fault lies with the housewives.

Farm Women Organize.
In 1906 it was felt that farming women must organize to improve their position and perfect themselves in the knowledge required for their work, and the first "Fédération des Femmes" was constituted that year. Since then the movement has rapidly grown. The number of associations has risen from two, with a membership of 115, in 1906, to 74, with a membership of 2,229, in 1910. In many respects the associations resemble the Women's Institutes of Canada. The object is to extend professional instruction to women in country districts by means of lectures, libraries, shows, competitions, and the like. Vegetable and seed societies are sometimes distributed, and several of the societies have started credit banks and old age pension funds.

Government Aid.
Every assistance is rendered by the Ministry of Agriculture, and various medical societies co-operative by organizing lectures upon such subjects as sanitary hygiene and the best means of preventing the spread of tuberculosis. There can be no doubt that these rural organizations, now, if rightly directed and adapted, to meet the needs of each particular country and which will prove invaluable aid towards the solution of many of the problems of rural life.

IN BROAD DAYLIGHT GIRL IS KIDNAPPED

Reward of $2000 Offered for Information as to Her Whereabouts

(Cable Cable Service)
Lima, Nov. 18.—Sigmunda Laura Abbott, the 20-year-old daughter of a wealthy merchant at Palermo, has been kidnapped by brigands in broad daylight in one of the main thoroughfares of the Sicilian capital. While returning home from mass in the company of her aunt, the girl was suddenly seized by a powerful, middle-aged ruffian, who had several accomplices, and bundled into a cab which was waiting hard by. The aunt and most of the bystanders were dumfounded, and two eyewitnesses who sought to rescue the victim were beaten off with knotted whips by a couple of coachmen.

The police managed to keep the affair secret for a whole week, but today the family have published a poster relative to the outrage, wherein they offer $2,000 reward to anyone giving information that may lead to the discovery of the girl's whereabouts.

Kidnaping is becoming an alarmingly common crime at Palermo.

Dispos of Their Lands and Holdings and Take Departure for Syria

Paris, Nov. 18.—According to reports from Algeria a curious and alarming number of natives has been taking flight from that colony. Some 1,200 natives in the Tlemcen district have recently sold their land and emigrated in Syria, and a motion was adopted by the Tlemcen municipal council for the opening of an official inquiry into the causes of this exodus. Steps have been taken in the military territory of Moudon and on the Moroccan frontier to prevent the fugitives from passing. It has been suggested that certain managers proposed by the Minister for War for the reform of the military service in the colony have abused the natives, but according to other statements this movement began before these measures were announced.

Connection Made With C. N.
R. Tracks — Wharf Completed—Burning the Clearing.

The number of laborers at Port Mann is being increased and great progress has been made in the matter of track-laying. Where a few weeks ago a road bed of a very temporary character was in use, today there is a good bed, well ballasted. The connecting up of the Port Mann spur with the C. N. R. has cleared the hill-sides of the fallen pines and operators in touch with the company's gravel pit at Port Kells. The immense wharf has been completed and is already well covered with mill equipment as is necessary in the matter of railway construction. On Friday a large dozer engine was being raised on to the wharf in order to facilitate the unloading of coal, of which large shipments are being received from the Laidlaw mill.

Miles of steel rails are lying piled up in readiness for business, and men are constantly engaged in fixing up the cross arms for telegraph poles and otherwise preparing for the more active work of road construction.

A number of new shanties are being run up for the use of the men and the nucleus of the new city has been formed.

Considerable progress is being made in clearing the Port Mann townsite. Two logging engines are still at work clearing the ground of the forest giants and at the present time huge trees are being hauled along at the end of three or four hundred feet of steel cable down the hill sides and from that point are again being hauled to the water edge. It is surprising how much has been done in a comparatively short time. Only a week or two ago the hill-sides were covered with fallen timber while today only a small section remains to be cleared.

At the same time with great frequency a series of reports fire out and bursts of roots and stumps are hurled into the air as the "blasting" causes proceed with the clearing out of the stumps left by the logging crews. —Westminster Columbian, Aug. 15.

PORT MANN PROGRESS

Big Wharf Practically Completed—Plenty of Work—
Temporary Track.

Port Mann, July 18.—The splendid new wharf at Port Mann is now almost complete and is one of the largest along the river. It is a thousand feet in length and seventy-five feet wide. The work of driving the requisite piles for the outer guard will be completed in a few days. There is about thirty-five feet of water available at the wharf at low tide, and the piles are driven from twenty-five to thirty-five feet into the bed of the river. A temporary track is now about finished to the company's gravel pit at Port Kells about four miles distant. The rails are being run down to the scene of action and already a train of twenty flat cars for the hauling of the gravel are on the track ready for business. On a wharf a large tank has been built and to this the water is elevated from the river for the use of locomotives. —Westminster Columbian.

MIGHT BE SAVED

IF RAILWAYS WOULD DELIVER
COAL TO POWER HOUSE IN DUMP CARS

If the railroads supplying the power house with coal could be induced to haul the coal on dump cars the saving to the city could be thousands of dollars annually. And unless the railroads can be persuaded peacefully to use dump cars for transporting this coal from the mine to the city, a petition will be filed with the railroad commission asking that the transportation companies be ordered by the commissioner to provide such a class of car.

At the present time the coal is hauled to the city in box cars and cattle cars and almost any old kind of car that happens to be handy. This requires that the coal be shoveled from the car to carts by hand. This means the employment of much labor, which would be eliminated if the railroad company would use dump cars in hauling the city's coal.

PIERROT SHAPE GIVES INVENTOR
IDEA WHICH WILL WORK BEN-EFIT TO SOLDIERS

London, Nov. 18.—A dainty's woman's hat of the fashionable pierrot shape has led to the invention of an ingenious military filter which may save many lives on active service.

The idea was first suggested to Dr. Frederick Alexander, the medical officer of health for Poplar, who has patented this improved apparatus for straining water—by the hat his sister-in-law wore.

Four or five cone-shaped hats the pierrot hats are suspended upside down, one above the other, in an easily portable pyramidal frame made of four weights of wood or metal in Dr. Alexander's invention.

Muddy or dirty water, which is frequently the only supply available to troops on active service, can then be poured into the topmost hat with the certain knowledge that by the time it has trickled through all the straining bags it will be as clear as crystal.

The idea of these cone-shaped hats," said Dr. Alexander, laughingly, "was given to me by my sister-in-law's pierrot hat after I had been reading a book on military requirements. It is a quite simple.

"The hats might be of any shape, but the cone shape is preferable, because they fit together easily one inside the other, and so are easily portable on the march.

"Hurdly the upper bags become choked by deposit from very dirty water they can quickly be replaced, for they are hung by hooks and bicycle to the frame.

"The apparatus would be useful in everyday life in the home, for water that has been boiled and passed through this straining apparatus is as pure as pure can be."

OPPORTUNITY LOST TO GET FORTUNE

WHEN HALF-MILLION LAY UNPRO-
TECTED FOR FOURTEEN HOURS
IN STATION

Geneva, Nov. 18.—The leading French bank in Geneva, the Credit Lyonnais, is delighted to recover a sack containing $500,000, which for 14 hours was lying unprotected in the little one-room-frontier station of Mollathal, at the mercy of the first thief who walked in from the street.

The sack, consisting of valuable shares, circular letters, etc., was seized at the instance of the local police authorities as the French bank, for the sake of economy, had it placed, after several months by having its daily correspondence to Paris carried across the frontier to Annemasse, at the expense of stamps, and covered by a small force.

When the postal bag did not arrive at Paris the telegraph and telephone were hurriedly set in motion, and the station was soon found by the local detectives, lying intact among vegetable bags and fruit boxes in the station.

It was only after police had fulfilled their duty that the bag was released.

NAVY WILL AID IN DEDICATION

WHEN ARMY AND NAVY'S Y. M. C. A. HOME IS OPENED AT NEWPORT

(Special to The Capital)

Newport, R. I., Nov. 18.—The beautiful new home of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian association, the gift of Mrs. Thomas J. Enery of Newport, and his son, and his daughter, was today formally dedicated in the presence of a most distinguished company. The building, which contains a large auditorium, library, gymnasium, baths and other features of an up-to-date clubhouse, was erected at a cost of $250,000. It occupies a conspicuous site on Washington Square, in the heart of the town of Newport. The dedication exercises were held in the auditorium in the morning. William Sloan, chairman of the international committee of the army and navy Y. M. C. A., presided. Mrs. Enery delivered a brief address of presentation and Major-General Leonard Wood, representing President Taft, responded. The army and navy's appreciation of the gift was abundantly proved by the presence at the exercises of several thousand sailors and marines from the Atlantic fleet and many soldiers from Fort Adams and other military posts that guard the entrance to Narragansett Bay.

The Women's National Trade Union League has established a "strike council," daily incorporated with a fund of $10,000, to be used for building purposes wherever women are on strike and their pockets arrested.

Would Purge The State of Camorra

Trial of Thieves Makes it Evident That Lawless Organization of Southern Italy Must Be Dismembered for the Good of the Country

Rome, Nov. 18.—The sensational opening of the Camorra trial and the length of the as yet unfinished proceedings have aroused in the public a sense of the interest and the importance attaching to the subject of secret organizations in Southern Italy. Different from the Mafia, which refers to a mode of life rather than to the organization, the Camorra is a secret society, deriving its ritual from Spain, and having taken its rules direct from those of an association of thieves which flourished at Toledo in the Fifteenth Century. It has imported into Naples at the time of the Spanish occupation, and has flourished since then as a smugling, gambling and betting organization. The mystery as to how it has been able to achieve its present strength is partly explained by the fact that in 1860 several of its members were enrolled in the police force, and in this connection it is significant to notice that the arrests in the case of the present trial were made not by the police, but by Captain Fabbiani, a captain of the "gendarmes," who came to Naples with a well-established reputation won in Sicily.

The members of the Camorra for the most part belong to the lower middle class. Large numbers of them keep stables and harness shops, and levy a regular blackmail on the coachmen in Naples. Their connection with public affairs is shown by the fact that in 1908 Fabbiani was hanged in 1908 for a considerable importance secured them investigations by the police. The protection afforded to the gang was shown shortly after Captain Fabbiani's arrest, several lawyers, themselves members of the Camorra, started a paper in which they made it

OPPOSE M'NAMARA DEFENSE POLICY

GOMPERS THINKS MONEY FOR DEFENSE OF UNION LEADERS SHOULD BE RAISED

(Western Associated Press.)

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 17.—The president Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, is opposed to the Federation's appropriation of $50,000 for the McNamara defense, was indicated at the convention of the organization today.

It is understood Mr. Gompers favors aiding the brothers charged with the Los Angeles Times disaster, but thinks the money to be used to that end should be raised by private subscription.

Before the convention is over Mr. Gompers and four other labor leaders who are locals of various crafts may be asked to sever their connection with the National Civic Federation, according to a resolution offered by the United Mine Workers, "largely composed of and financed by employers of labor, many of whom are the most bitter enemies of organized labor."

Mr. Gompers and the associates mentioned are members of the executive committee of the Federation. It is understood that the National Federation of Miners and several state delegations will support the resolution. The resolution recites that the conflict between the employers and working class is constantly becoming more intense and that the former are constantly becoming more brutal in their treatment of the workers, as is evidenced by the desperate attempts

(Special to The Capital)

New York, Nov. 18.—Sir William White comes to New York today to receive the John Fritz medal, which the United Societies of American Engineers presents annually to the person, irrespective of nationality, who has shown the greatest extent through the application of science.

Sir William White is one of the most celebrated engineers and naval architects of the world. After completing his studies at the Royal School of Naval Architecture he joined the construction department of the British Admiralty in 1867. As director of naval construction, which office he held from 1883 to 1907, he practically reconstructed the British navy. With the exception of the Lord Nelson, Sir William is the only British who has received the John Fritz medal.

PICK AND SHOVEL MEN ARE BUSY

THREE MORE WEEKS OF WORK WILL SEE C. N. LINE GRADE COMPLETE TO PENMINA

Three more weeks of steady work on a four-mile stretch of the line east of Penminta will put the C. N. R. main line grade in shape for steel as far west as the Penminta river, according to H. Winslow, superintendent of construction work on the 70-mile contract between St. Albert and the Penminta, who is in Edmonton today, a guest at the Alberta hotel.

"Had it not been for the cold weather of the past week or two the grade would have been completed to the Penminta river by tonight," said Mr. Winslow this morning. "Everything was in good working order and good progress was being made, but the heavy frosts had up the team work in spite of all we could do. We succeeded in cleaning up the lighter cuts, however, and all the forces are now concentrated on the heavier work. It has been necessary to dispense with a number of the team outfits and take on more men with pick and shovel, and we are now moving much of the dirt by truck and cars. There are now about 100 men in the camps. The work is spread over about four miles of the line and the completion of this four miles will mark the completion of the contract to the Penminta."

Mr. Winslow said that he had received a wire from Winnipeg stating that heavy steel for the main line of the C. N. R. was being sent forward in carload lots, so it is probable that steel laying west of the Sturgeon river will commence in the near future. The work of putting down the track will proceed rapidly over on the frozen ground, and once the head of steel reaches the Penminta it will be possible to move forward all necessary material for the bridge across that stream.

Steel laying on the Athabasca Landing has been in progress during the past week, starting at Stanley Creek, fifty-six miles north of Edmonton, last Saturday.

PLAN IS APPROVED BY BUSINESS MEN

CITY'S SCHEME TO SECURE SITES FOR FACTORIES MEETS WITH APPROVAL

Strathcona, Nov. 18.—Backed by a large number of the most influential business men of the city a movement is under way to secure a tract of land in the southern part of the city which will be owned and controlled by the municipality for the purpose of offering to manufacturers excellent sites for factories. At a well attended meeting called together one evening this week by Mayor Davies, it was decided to take immediate steps for securing, options on suitable lands and it is probable that a special committee appointed for that purpose will have a full report for another meeting of the business men to be held in the city hall next Monday evening. This special committee is composed of Mayor Davies, and Messrs. John Buchanan, R. B. Douglas and H. A. Heist.

If satisfactory lands can be secured in the south end of the city, it is likely that a recommendation will be made by the business men to the council which will not only be a step by law being submitted for the purchase of a suitable area for factory purposes, it is most improbable that the ratepayers would then have a by-law which had for its object the promotion of the city's manufacturing interests and there is still less doubt entertained that definite action by the business men will fail to reach the stage where a sound and reasonable recommendation may be forwarded to the council.

The need of municipally owned manufacturing sites is not a new one in the city, a scheme which had this purpose in view being promoted by the board of trade three years ago. At that time the negotiations advanced to a stage where the city council secured an option on an excellent tract of land in the south end but that this option was not taken up gave occasion for a renewal of the scheme at this juncture. It is the intention if possible to obtain land situated in the south end between the lines of the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. This would give the city an excellent site for manufacturing and if this land is owned and controlled by the city the recommendations for locating these plants of business would be made much easier for all concerned. No plan in the present line is better suited for manufacturing than Strathcona and the present action will pave the way for new industries locating here.

S'CONA SKATING RINK LEASED

ARENA WILL BE IN GOOD SHAPE FOR HOCKEY GAMES THIS SEASON

Strathcona, Nov. 18.—A lease of the skating and hockey rink has been taken for the season by Mr. A. L. Garber, the new manager has already commenced the flooding of the arena and with a touch of sharper weather will soon have the rink in shape for skating. Mr. Garber is no new hand with his business having control of the rink during several former seasons. He has secured a fast senior team, on the local ice and it will upon this seven that the city will probably depend for first-class representation. Of last year's team it is likely that Kent and Neil Sutherland will sign up with Deacon White's league because of the loss of Chuck Clarke, has already left for Calgary to join the city team there, with whom he finished last season. One large open air rink is already open in the city, the newly formed athletic club at Alberta college has had a first-class skating and hockey arena near the college building in the west end of the city.

The acceptance of the invitation recently sent Mr. McGill gives no small measure of satisfaction to the congregation as this young divine occupied the pulpit of the church here one year ago with signal success for a few months during the summer. After leaving Strathcona Mr. McGill returned to the Rochester Theological Seminary where he completed an exceptionally brilliant college career last fall with the winning of a scholarship entailing him to a post graduate course in the University of Chicago. Rev. McGill is a preacher of unusual powers and he will receive a warm welcome from the congregation of the Baptist church.

STOLE OVERCOATS; GETS TWO YEARS

WILLIAM MCKENZIE WILL PAY FOR HIS DESIRE TO ANXIOUS OTHERS' FURS

Although William McKenzie was sentenced to spend two years each in prison, serving two overcoats from two hotels at Strathcona, he will spend but two years in the government prison two years each for stealing two fur overcoats. However the prisoner will kill both birds with one stone, as he will serve both sentences at the same time. The sentences were ordered by Judge Taylor to run concurrently.

McKenzie came to Strathcona from Fort Walsh last week. On Tuesday he left a couple of fur coats, one from each of two hotels. On Wednesday he was given a preliminary hearing, he later had his trial before the district court and was sentenced to four years, two years for each of the two coats, and the time to run concurrently.

TRAVEL BY RAIL TO MINES WEST

GRAZE MINES WILL BE ABLE TO SHIP COAL TO OUTSIDE POINTS

Steel laying on the Bickerstaff branch of the G.T.P. which will furnish transportation facilities for a number of coal mines in the Brazeau district commenced on Thursday at mile 66 and will be completed by the end of the month. The laying was held up for some time by the construction of the McLeod river bridge which is in progress. This information was given by B. Scott, purchasing agent for the Pacific Coal Fields Limited, who returned from the west recently after making arrangements for shipment of the winter's supplies to the mines of the company at mile 66 on the branch.

"New track already has been laid to about three miles beyond the river or mile 69, and will be completed by the end of the month," said Mr. Scott in a Capital reporter this morning.

The grade of the road is ready for track as far as mile 69 where a 600 foot tunnel has been under construction for some time. It is expected that the line will be completed by about December 1st when it will be possible to continue the track to mile 75 where the construction of another bridge will delay it for another month or six weeks.

A whole year's supplies are being purchased by Mr. Scott for use at the mines of the Pacific Coal Fields Limited. The work of the road is to the times is to continue next week. There is nearly a foot of snow on the McLeod river district and the road to the mines is in good condition. When the track has been completed to mile 75, the supplies as have not already been freighted in from the present head of steel will be shipped by rail as far as possible.

TRAM COMPANY WANTS EXTENSION

INTER-URBAN RAILWAY COMPANY WILL APPLY TO LEGISLATURE FOR MORE TIME

In spite of the protestations of Raymond Bratton, president of the Edmonton Interurban railway company, that the project was killed at the fall session of the legislature, in 1910 when the provincial parliament refused to ratify an agreement between himself and the town of St. Albert, granting a franchise to the company under especially advantageous terms, the company does not appear to have abandoned the project. Application is to be made at the forthcoming session of the legislature for an extension of the time within which the Interurban railway company is required to construct its line from the foot of Pirron street, St. Albert, to the Edmonton city boundary.

According to the terms of the act of incorporation which received the royal assent on December 16, 1910, the company was to have completed the construction of this section of their system before December 16 of this year. As yet no steps have been taken toward the construction of the road.

The agreement between Bratton and the city of Edmonton with regard to the running of the cars of the interurban line within the city limits, lapsed some time ago when the company failed to perform its part of the contract. Mr. Bratton announced shortly afterwards that the scheme has been killed owing to the stringency of the regulations imposed in the agreement with the city, and to the question of the legislature of extending the clauses in its agreement with the town of St. Albert for a franchise for light and power.

George H. Adams, secretary of the Edmonton Interurban railway company, is on a tour of inspection to other cities for the purpose of visiting the latest methods of construction of the road. He is expected to return on Monday or Tuesday. The Edmonton reached Toronto yesterday, en route home. They will have been away nearly three weeks.
